SINGER TOOK $100.

Leland Singer, who robbed the East Honesdale Erie depot Saturday night, September 23, at which time it was known he secured $50, took $100 instead, states Daniel Maloney, local Erie agent. The exact amount that Singer took could not be ascertained until Agent Maloney, who was in Jamestown, arrived home.

Singer hired a livery rig that night in White Mills and was driven to Lackawanna, where he was seen on Sunday. Lieutenant Guy Relf as soon as he heard of the robbery telegraphed all stations on the Erie line of Singer's disappearance. This was not until Monday.

On Thursday Jenkins' Boy Band drove overland from Honesdale to Lookout and assisted in holding one of the largest picnics ever held in that vicinity.

WHATSOEVER CIRCLE NETS $170

The Whatsoever Circle of the Honesdale Methodist church, which conducted a lunch counter in the Foster building during the three days of last week's celebration, realized $170 from the sales.

This is remarkably well, when it is taken into consideration that the highest price article sold was 10c. The money will be applied to a fund for the renovation of the church.

The announcement of the marriage of Richard Harnan Monaghan, son of Attorney and Mrs. Frank Monaghan, Scranton, formerly of this place, to Miss Mary Trager, daughter of Herman Trager, of Price street, Scranton, will come as an agreeable surprise to their many friends in this place. The ceremony was performed last Thursday at St. Ann's monastery, West Scranton, by the Rev. Father Patrick. There were no attendants.

It was the intention of the young couple to keep the wedding quiet for a short time, but after notifying their parents Saturday, they decided to make an announcement.

Mr. Monaghan is employed as district manager for the International Correspondence Schools at Carbondale. The bride has been employed as a bookkeeper for her father up to the time of her marriage.

"BABY MINE" IS COMING.

Manager Dietrich announces that he has completed arrangements with Wm. A. Brady, Ltd., whereby the production of "Baby Mine" will be brought intact to the Lyric on Thursday, Sept. 19. This necessarily means a great deal to theatre-goers of this place, inasmuch as Mr. Brady is sending some of the company which has played almost continuously for an entire year at Daly's Theatre. "Baby Mine" is surrounded by everything to create continuous merriment, and good natured mirth and literal comedy luxuriates throughout the play. Enthusiasm is aroused at the start, with the unfolding of conditions occasioned by a very young and pre-arranged, but innocent wife. Energetic humor and vociferous laughter are the important facts at all times. The fun and pleasure is genuine, and joy never feasted higher than that which follows the conditions provoked by witnessing "Baby Mine." A laugh that rolls into a thousand.

WANT ERIE TRAINS CONTINUED.

The business men of Honesdale, who since the Erie changed its schedule in June and gave the town an early morning train, are anxious that this excellent service be continued. It gives unequalled mail service and the patronage is gradually increasing. The fall timetable will soon go into effect and a change may be scheduled, but the business interests of Honesdale sincerely hope whatever the Erie does that it will not discontinue the 8:08 morning train. The 7:17 morning and 6:55 evening trains are also very satisfactory and give Honesdale excellent service. The time of departure and arrival of these trains meet with the approval of the traveling public. It allows more time for the merchant to transact his business in New York, enabling him to return the same night.

WAYNE BAPTIST ASSOCIATION

Forty-third Annual Convention Held in Honesdale This Week.

The 43rd annual convention of the Wayne Baptist Association held two day sessions which were interesting and profitable to the many delegates assembled. Representatives were present from the 19 Baptist churches within the bounds of Wayne county. Out-of-town speakers were Rev. E. B. Morris, of South Clinton, Rev. A. H. Knight, of Aldenville, Rev. R. D. Minch, of Damascus, Rev. C. O. Fuller, of Hawley, Rev. C. A. Soars, D. D., of Philadelphia, secretary Pennsylvania State Mission Society, Rev. J. M. Maxwell, of Philadelphia, district secretary of the American Baptist Home Mission Society.

Rev. E. B. Morris preached the opening sermon on Tuesday morning, which was in part as follows:

Text: Eccle. 7:10—"What is the cause that the former days were better than these?"

This is largely the sentiment of the pessimist. Pessimism is as ancient as optimism. In Cain and Able we see the two isms exemplified. The one was gloomy, the other bright. The one lived in and for the past; the other lived for the present and future, and searched for the bright side in all things and all conditions of life. The pessimist is dissatisfied with the present and always emphasizes the past. He advocates that the world's golden age, has past and gone. He regards the present as bad, and the future will be worse. All the world's giants, intellectually or physically, have lived in the past. He thinks that religious faith is dying out and that Christianity itself is tottering to its fall. He has a perfect right to his views, but the world with all its interests, religions, social and political, will move on as hopefully as ever. A higher and mightier arm rules this world and its affairs. The optimist takes a more helpful view of his surroundings. He believes and advocates that this day is the best in the history of the world. To-day is pre-eminent in great undertakings and achievements. Honesty, thrift, industry, unselfishness and self-denial, are more pronounced than ever before. Noble, gifted and earnest men and women, are devoting themselves to religious, philanthropic and humanitarian work as never before. While the optimist is not indifferent to the achievements of the past, yet he is delighted with the present and looks for glorious things in the future. He likes brightness better than gloom. Progress than stagnation. The past is gone; but the present is with us. We should make the most of it, in utilizing all its opportunities. From a purely religious standpoint, present calls for and demands great enthusiasm. It is worthy of our best efforts. We should be satisfied with nothing but our best for Him. We should take hold, hold on and never let go. Continue unto the end. Let us get nearer to it, put our shoulder to the wheel, and give our best efforts to the church. We can't lead nearer to Him than we stand ourselves.

The following officers were elected at the opening of the afternoon session:

Moderator, Rev. G. S. Wendell; clerk, George P. Ross; treasurer, John H. Penwarden.

The afternoon session on Tuesday was given over to the discussion of Young People's and Sunday school work. Rev. A. H. Knight delivered an inspiring and helpful address on "The Bible and Young People of the 20th Century." Rev. C. O. Fuller pointed out the importance of early training of the children in primary department.

Rev. S. E. Spear, pastor of the Christian church, Dunmore, was present and delivered an address upon "Graded Sunday Schools," Tuesday afternoon.

Dr. C. A. Soars gave a general survey of the work of the Pennsylvania State Mission Society in which he declared that there were over 3,000,000 of people in Pennsylvania who never engaged in any church life or work.

On Wednesday morning Rev. C. O. Fuller preached a thoughtful and helpful sermon on the "Incarnation," taking his text from the Gospel of John, first chapter, fourteenth verse. The rest of the morning service was given over to discussion of forward movements for the coming year. At Wednesday's afternoon session the Women's Home and Foreign Mission Societies were represented. Miss Joyce Williams of the Chicago Training School for Christian Workers, was the main speaker.

Rev. G. S. Wendell, pastor of the local Baptist church, concluded the afternoon session with a brief address on the "Place and Work of Our Baptist Churches."

At the evening service the sermon was preached by Rev. A. H. Knight, which was a fitting climax to a most helpful series of services.
